HARVEY "PENNY" COLE WINS PRIZE 1950 CHEVROLET

Observations... Bay Rotary Celebrates 25th Year

By the Editor

Sometime back the Town of Waveland held a meeting to elect a Democratic Executive Committee and there were 169 present and voting at this meeting. This meeting was held at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, a time when all folks are supposed to be busy. These folks take their politics very seriously, and we cannot and would not offer any criticisms for their interest in public affairs and would certainly urge them to continue it; nevertheless, we wonder just how many would have been at a meeting called at a similar time on a civic matter. Get into the spirit and remember it will take cooperation and a coordinated effort to build into bigger and better communities. It actually makes us sick to look at the condition of our beach. Storm debris still there, and the weeds rampant. No wonder the folks drive towards Waveland and Clermont Harbor. They are probably striving to get away from what is beginning to appear as a swamp. Our beach front is certainly the responsibility of someone. Whose is it? We should find out and place it where it belongs, after all our beach front is our greatest asset. This is a little note to Col. T. B. Birdsong, Commissioner of the Safety Patrol and to Sheriff Burton D. Johnson. Death is lurking in front of the Hi Way Drive In Theatre, on Highway 90, on the outskirts of Bay St. Louis. Trucks and other vehicles apparently are trying to see how fast they can drive when showing this spot, at the time the show is over and cars are driving out. Isn't there something you can do about it? Whether it was carelessness or with intent, the action of the person or persons who set the woods on fire at Brown's Vineyard was a despicable one. This fire destroyed a great number of the arbores in the vineyard, which the owner has been working to bring back to their former state, and the value of which is probably several thousand dollars. Think how it would strike you if someone put a match to your property. A woods fire destroys property and values of probably greater proportions than fires in buildings. If this fire was your responsibility you should hang your head in shame. Visitors to this area for the 4th of July holidays should be an incentive to our people to move to make it feasible for more to come and to offer them a spot for recreation. Particularly were the crowds noticeable at the public piers at Waveland and at Clermont Harbor. It is apparently of no use, to attempt any further to urge the people of Bay St. Louis to wake up. We seem to be satisfied to let the wagon roll by, and then we will all get a severe attack of the gripes. The Jacobs had an additional celebration on July 4th. It marked the 10th Anniver-

It was on May 26, 1925 that the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club was organized. E. J. Leonhard was the first president elected to lead this group. Charles G. Moreau was elected vice-president; L. J. Norman, treasurer; Arthur A. Scaife, secretary; and Herbert Vanty, sergeant at arms.

Wednesday night, July 5, the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club celebrated its twenty-fifth year, when the local club members, their wives and friends, together with the Pass Christian Club members and their wives filled the Hotel Reed dining room for the annual ladies night and installation of officers.

Call Meet of Vets Who Purchased Farm or Homes From Veteran's Farm and Home Board for July 14

Sam L. Favre, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Favre of Kiln, has opened his law offices in Bay St. Louis. He is located in the Gex building at 142 Main street.

Favre, who received his Law degree from the University of Mississippi in May 1950, was graduated from Kiln high school in 1938. He received a B. S. degree from Mississippi State college in 1943 with a major in business administration.

From 1944 to 1948 Mr. Favre was the Superintendent of Education for Hancock County. At the time he was said to be the youngest man ever to take office in the County, and he was one of the youngest officials in the state of Mississippi. He was 23 years of age when he was elected.

sary of the opening of their business place on Main Street, the Bobby Ann Bakery. Have you tried driving the first block of deMontuzin Avenue, and have you tried parking on the street at the Postoffice, and then if you want to cap it all try driving down Dunbar Avenue. On deMontuzin if you can circumvent the holes you are a real driver, and if you can keep your feet out of the mud puddles on the street at the postoffice you should be able to tread water, and if you really want your dinner to digest try Dunbar Avenue. You will probably find it in your toes.

An important meeting of veterans who bought farms or homes through the Veterans' Farm and Home Board will be held at the K. C. Hall at 10:00 A. M., July 14, 1950.

Representatives of the Veterans' Farm and Home Board office in Jackson, as well as local veterans affairs leaders, will take part in the meeting which has been called to explain the details of a plan of group life insurance which is being made available to veterans who have financed their homes or farms through the state agency.

PLAN IS OPTIONAL

The insurance plan is optional to the veterans but the state agency has obtained an exceptionally low rate of 50 cents per thousand dollars of insurance per month, and has also worked out a plan whereby the insurance can be carried without increasing present mortgage loan payments.

Mr. B. B. Allen, Indianola, chairman of the state Board, has urged all veterans who have made purchases through the state to take advantage of the plan.

"There have been several tragic instances where widows and orphans of veterans have been confronted with a heavy burden in keeping their homes after the death of the husband and father," Mr. Allen said.

PROVIDE INSURANCE

"In an effort to avoid such situations," he continued, "the Veterans' Farm and Home Board has arranged to provide a plan of group life insurance which will, without increasing present payments, pay in full the remaining balance on loan contracts, in the event of death of the breadwinner, leave the home free of a mortgage, and provide an extra $1,000 for loved ones.

"This plan will protect the homes of many veterans in impaired health who could not possibly qualify for regular insurance. The extraordinary savings in the cost of this insurance, as well as broader coverage, are made possible by collective purchases."

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Howard LeTissier was Master of Ceremonies. Homer Gregory, retiring president, turned the gavel over to Alden Mauffray, 1950-51 president; Arthur Chapman was installed as vice-president, and Carl T. Smith as secretary for his third term. Mr. LeTissier stated that Mr. Mauffray had a task ahead of him to keep the club up to the standard of membership which Mr. Gregory had made possible.

COMPLIMENTS CLUB

District Governor William Neville, from the 206th district, complimented the club on the progress it had made during its brief span of twenty-five years. Mrs. Neville accompanied her husband.

James Norman presented Rotary International banner and the American flag to the club, and in so doing said it was a privilege he appreciated.

A unique feature of the program was the entrance of Mrs. Frank Cooper dressed in the fashion of 1925. She gave each one a present a package containing a silver dollar.

Dr. James A. Evans, who has the distinction of being the only charter member in the club, cut the huge birthday cake.

QUARTETTE ENTERTAINS

The Rotary club quartette, composed of Ben Hille, Arthur Chapman, Walter Dapaquier and F. J. Treutel, sang two selections and Ben Hille rendered a solo, "I've Got My Captain Working for Me Now". Dr. Evans led the general singing of "God Bless America" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Charter members present as guests were Joseph O. Mauffray and C. C. McDonald, Sr. Leo W. Seal Sr., gave a short resume of some worthwhile projects which the Rotary club had been responsible for—Highway 90, the Bay St. Louis school building, highway bridge across the Bay of St. Louis, the seawall, paved streets and graveled roads in the rural sections.

RESUME OF 1949-50

Mr. Gregory, outgoing president, gave a resume of the work accomplished by the Rotary during the past year. The group held fifty-one meetings; had thirty-nine well planned programs; a membership of thirty-eight; sent four adults to the Rotary hospital, and all four came back rehabilitated and are carrying on worthwhile vocations; re-organized and are sponsoring the Sea Scouts; purchased a wheel chair for the use of a fellow Rotarian; sponsored a junior baseball club on which they spent $29.43; donated $100. to the local Kings Daughters hospital and $100 to the Rotary hospital at Memphis; they gave $50. to the local chapter of the American Red Cross; sent a boy to Magnolia Boys' State; and donated $30 to the summer recreation program being conducted at Bay High.

OES Holds District School of Instruction

A District School of Instruction, District 20, Order of the Eastern Star, was held in Bay St. Louis Tuesday, June 27, with the Bay St. Louis Chapter as hosts. The work was under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Hodnot, district deputy grand instructress.

Visiting grand officers from Mississippi were Mrs. Lillie Moffat, worthy grand matron, L. A. Nichols, worthy grand patron. Supper was served by the host chapter, and the guests were treated to a musical program. Carol Siren rendered two vocal solos accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Earl Ramond. Mrs. Elizabeth Hall favored with several guitar selections.

All officers were presented shoulder sashes, and the worthy grand matron, patron, district deputy were each given a gift. Coast cities represented were Long Beach, Gulfport, Moss Point, Lagow, Pass Christian, Biloxi, Van Clave, Ocean Springs and Piquette.

Good Local Government Is Keynote of Mayors' Meet

Good local government as the biggest bargain available to the American taxpayer was the keynote of the annual convention of the Mississippi Municipal Association, according to Mayor W. J. Carver who has just received a report of the Biloxi meeting.

Throughout the meeting, Mayor Carver said, emphasis was given to the direct services which municipalities render their citizens and to achievement of the greatest good with the smallest amount of money which is left after federal and state taxes have been siphoned off.

The association elected Mayor Roger Parkes of Louisville, President and Mayor Thompson McClellan of West Point, Vice-President.

Its resolutions commended the effort of the special legislative study committee and also the members of both the Senate and House for their recognition of municipal problems. The Association also adopted resolutions authorizing its Executive Committee to draft a municipal policy for 1951-52.

Mayor Carver called attention to the fact that current census figures reveal the trend of population in recent years has been sharply toward the cities and towns. Mayor Carver predicted that this trend would continue, describing it as necessary in balancing agricultural with industrial production.

Almost to the man, the convention's main speaker urged municipal officials to put their problems and their services before the people in the form of good public relations.

Although municipalities receive only a fraction of the total taxes paid by their citizens, they provide more direct benefit than all the other agencies of government combined Mayor Carver pointed out.

Outstanding addresses were made by Mayor J. D. Arrington, of Collins, who was the banquet speaker; Carl H. Chatters of Chicago, Executive Director, American Municipal Association and retiring President G. B. Cousins, Jr., Mayor of Biloxi, who was unanimously voted an honorary life member of the Association in appreciation of his untiring efforts during his tenure of office.

Greetings from the Louisiana Association were extended by Mayor Curt Siegelin, of Bogalusa, President of the neighboring municipal organization. Mayor Siegelin told the Mississippians that the strongest defense against big government and communism is in strong, efficient and municipal governments.

Mrs. Fred Bourgeois Wins $750; Others Win Cash Bonus Awards. Advertisers Are Chief Beneficiaries

Crowning six and a half weeks of public interest and strenuous efforts on the part of contestants in the Echo's "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest, the race came to a climax last Saturday afternoon.

By amassing the total of 12,762,220 votes representing hundreds of new and renewal subscriptions to this newspaper—Harvey "Penny" Cole of Bay St. Louis finished first and was awarded the new Chevrolet Deluxe sedan, grand capital prize of the contest.

Following closely behind with 12,324,650 votes—but not quite enough to capture the coveted first place—Mrs. Fred Bourgeois came in second to win $750, cash, while Mrs. Frank Kiefer, Miss Gertrude Saucier, Mrs. J. G. Treutel and Mrs. W. J. Lee, finished in third, fourth, fifth and sixth place respectively and received a substantial cash bonus award.

From every point of view, the subscription drive just closed was a success. The race started off with a rush and forged steadily ahead each week at an unprecedented pace, but with the best of good feelings prevailing among participants at all times.

"EVERYBODY WINS" It was an understood fact at the beginning, of course, that all could not win first place, but everybody did win something commensurate with their production record in "Everybody Wins" prize contest.

Moreover, the advertisers WON by virtue of the fact that they now have a vastly increased audience to read their regular weekly offerings of dependable merchandise and services in each issue of the ECHO.

It is estimated that there are four members to each family in every home who have access to this newspaper; so, on that basis, the SEA COAST ECHO now enjoys the largest circulation in the city of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County.

The general public WON, also, by reason of the fact that they now have a stronger, more visible ECHO destined to become ever stronger in the near future—to represent their best interests in this area; and, if need be, to fight their battles for any worthy cause.

And, too, this newspaper WON to the same degree by having more complete FULLY PAID IN ADVANCE circulation—the only kind of circulation that counts—thus enabling the ECHO to render better service to both readers and advertisers in all matters pertaining to civic betterment and the upbuilding of this vast prosperous area.

To these new readers, and the old ones as well, whose interest and patronage made this subscription drive the success it proved to be, the publisher of the SEA COAST ECHO is indeed grateful and indebted.

For the trust implied by advancing subscriptions one or more years, the staff shall strive to merit that trust and serve the public to the best of its ability. On behalf of the editor and every member of our staff, we extend our most sincere thanks.

JUDGE'S OFFICIAL REPORT We the undersigned, acting in capacity of Judges in the SEA COAST ECHO'S "Everybody Wins" Prize Subscription Contest, after checking findings in the sealed ballot box and adding votes due on subscriptions contained therein to last published vote figures together with reserve votes previously earned but not cast for publication, do hereby declare, to the best of our knowledge and belief, the following grand totals to be correct and contestants listed below are winners of prizes in the order named:

Mr. H. "Penny" Cole, 12,762,220 votes—Winner of Grand capital Prize—Chevrolet Car;
Mrs. Fred Bourgeois, 12,324,650 votes—Winner of Second Grand Prize—$750. cash;
Mrs. Frank Kiefer, 12,161,320 votes—Winner of Cash Bonus Award—50% added to earned commissions;
Miss Gertrude Saucier, 3,060,500 votes—Winner of Cash Bonus Award—33-1/3% added to earned commissions;
Mrs. J. G. Treutel, 2,666,670 votes—Winner of Cash Bonus Award—25% added to earned commissions;
Mrs. W. J. Lee, 2,373, 590 votes—Winner of Cash Bonus Award—15% added to earned commissions.

Accepted With Gratitude and Humility

Our one thought since we acquired the ownership of the Echo, on March 13th, 1942, has been to build it into a bigger and better newspaper, which could help build a bigger and better Hancock County.

Throughout these years the response we have received from you, our readers, has been very gratifying. Our circulation has grown from year to year without solicitation.

One of the most important factors in the operation of a newspaper is its advertisers. They are the people who make its publication possible, and having devoted much effort to our readers interest, we thought the time had arrived to try and better serve those who have been so kind and considerate throughout the years, supporting us financially, when it was questionable as to whether they were receiving the value of their advertising dollars.

Our circulation was a very creditable one, at the start of the contest; nevertheless, we were not satisfied. We wanted a greater coverage of our area, to better serve our people and our county. Realizing that with a greater dissemination of news, the county could be knit together into a more harmonious whole, and to our advertisers we would be able to offer a greater number of potential buyers.

In order to meet this situation we secured the services of the Liner Circulation Service, to carry on a circulation contest. In charge of this contest was Bill Gupton, a native Mississippian, representing the Liner Service. The contest was a very successful one, and today, the Echo has one of the largest circulations in its history, which puts it among the foremost weekly newspapers of the State.

And again we want to say the response we have received from our people has been gratifying and our heart is filled with joy. You and those who participated in our campaign as contestants have made this possible. Without this cooperation the drive would have failed. We wish to express our sincere thanks to each and every one of you, to the Liner Circulation Service, to the contest manager, Bill Gupton, and to his splendid co-worker, Mrs. Gupton. The manner in which they conducted the contest deserves commendation, and it leaves no doubt as to its integrity and absolute honesty.

We accept with a deep sense of gratitude and in all humility the challenge and responsibility of the greatly increased circulation; we pledge ourselves to give you a bigger and better newspaper; and to stand for, and fight for, all that is best, just and right for the building of a bigger and better Hancock County.

LETTERS

SINCERE THANKS

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
On June 23, I had what might well have been a very serious fire.

It was reported and within five minutes or less, the Waveland Fire Department, which I understood to be entirely voluntary, was on hand to extinguish it.

Such fine work by such men who have civic interest at heart to the extent of sacrificing time and money in going to the aid of others, deserves great commendation and certainly the full cooperation of this community which they so faithfully serve.

To these men I wish to express through your columns, my sincere appreciation for their fine work.

Yours truly,
Lydi Magruder.

Gains Valuable Experience

Editor:
I would like to tell all of my friends and those of my family, too, how much I appreciate their helping me to win this big contest conducted by the Sea Coast Echo.

Without their support and cooperation I never would have won this beautiful Chevrolet. I also want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gupton, Contest managers, and the editor of this paper, Mr. Favre, for their help in explaining to me what can be accomplished through hard work. I feel that I have made many new friends and have gained a valuable experience. I hope that this message, Mr. Favre, will reach your new subscribers as well as your old ones.

Again, my sincere thanks to all.
Penny C. Cole.

Guests At Sunny Pine

Mr. and Mrs. James Lebow were guests at "Sunny Pine," Waveland home of the L. W. Dumas, over the Fourth of July weekend.

Mr. Lebow, who is an enthusiastic fisherman, made quite a catch of trout at Bayou Caddy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lebow are formerly from Dallas, Texas, and they only recently moved to New Orleans. He is district manager of the National Shirt shops.

Also a weekend guest at "Sunny Pine" was Mr. Rodney R. Thompson of Atlanta, Ga.

Jenifer Ruthford Celebrates Birthday

Jenifer Jean Ruthford celebrated her first birthday June 28 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ruthford.

There was a birthday cake and ice cream for the children.

Children attending were Gary, Margie and George Byrd, Alex Romanoff, Doty June and Don Eugene Estapa, Linda, Ida and Billy Schwartz, Ann Favre, Pete Tartavouille, Barbara Jean, Billy and Patsy Floyd of New Orleans, Patty Romer and J. D. and Henry Ruthford, Jenifer's brothers.

Adults attending were Mesdames Otto Romer, Bert Estapa, C. C. Romanoff, Charles Byrd, Alvin Favre, of this city and Mesdames N. C. Floyd, Elsie Sutra and Wilhimina Wall of New Orleans.

GUESTS OF BRIGNACS

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Duvoison of New Orleans were weekend visitors to Bay St. Louis as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brignac.

Socialism Charged

THIS CORRESPONDENT is in receipt of a brochure released by the private electric industries in which they charge that the activities of the REA and the Reclamation Department as it pertains to hydroelectric dams, are part and parcel of a gigantic socialist plot conceived as far back as 1923, to take over and nationalize the electric industries.

Indirectly, they charge that 22,000,000 folks living in rural areas, 12,000,000 of whom are obtaining electricity from REA co-ops, and another 10,000,000 who are obtaining electricity from the Reclamation Department are involved.

The brochure says, "This basic plan is a part of the socialist plan for basic industries framed in 1923." They further charge that the late Senator, George W. Norris of Nebraska, was the framer of the initial piece of legislation to further the conspiracy.

This column predicts that if the private electric industry wants to pick a fight and rest its case upon the ghost of Senator Norris, it should be the greatest liberal ever to sit in the United States senate in modern times, they are fighting a rear guard action and a losing battle.

Recently this column reported a press meeting in the office of J. Purcell Smith, the $65,000-a-year lobbyist for the utility industry, of the National Association of Electric Companies, at which the industry agreed that there should be cooperation between government and private utility industries, but cooperation on their terms only. That is, they agreed you as taxpayers, should construct the giant hydroelectric dams, but that the private electric companies should have the right to reap the benefit—that is construct the power house and transmission lines and sell to the consumers at their own prices.

And in this brochure in which they charge some 22,000,000 of you folks as being a part of a socialist plot to take over the electric industry, they point out that REA is building a network of "duplicating transmission" lines when as a matter of fact the REA declares "we have never built a duplicating line. We have built some parallel lines, but there is a difference between duplicating and paralleling lines."

REA says, for instance, that when traffic is so heavy across the Potomac river that a new bridge is necessary, that is not a duplication, but a paralleling bridge. And the same thing is true with regard to electric lines. They have built some parallel, but not duplicating lines, and only when private utilities have refused to service, or have been too overloaded to serve additional customers off the same lines. Or in some instances, where the electric industry has refused to give lower rates to electric consumers.

TVA Attacked

Senator George Norris was the "daddy" of the TVA system in the Tennessee valley. In spite of the fact that every newspaper writer who ever went into the Tennessee valley recounted the wonderful story of the higher living standards, the cheap power available, the tremendous increase of industrial activity and a corresponding influx of labor, the conservation and recreational facilities which have been provided, and the cheap fertilizer produced for farmers, this brochure again points to TVA as a result of "dewey-eyed dreaming."

It declares TVA is a mecca for "ambitious bureaucrats and politicians who saw greater personal power for themselves in a government operated economy." This column has yet to hear anyone in the Tennessee valley so indict TVA.

A Forced Issue

Lets not discount the money private utility has put into expansion of new plants, new transmission lines and, as a matter of fact, into cheaper electricity rates to consumers, both for industry and home use.

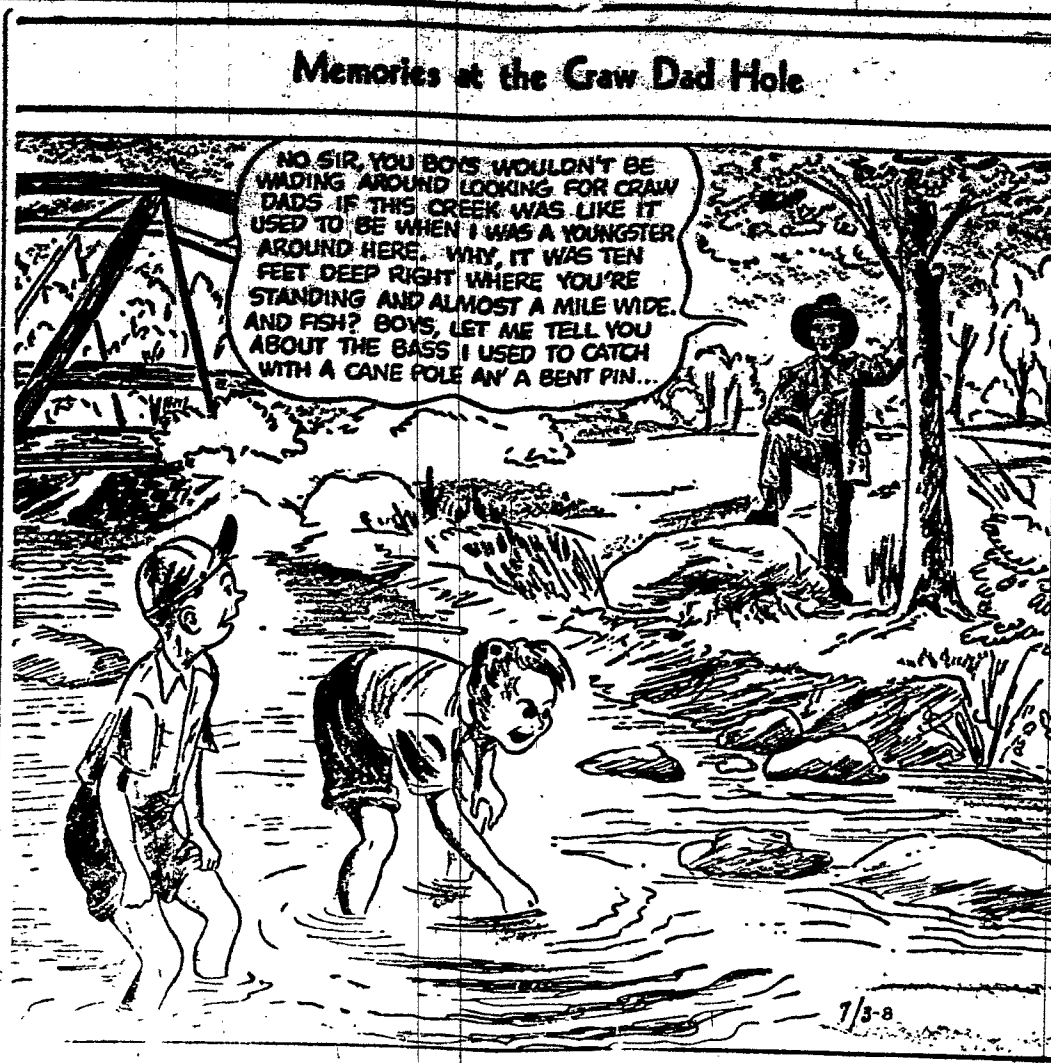

But let us also admit that this expansion and this reduction of rates has come about as a forced issue, largely because of this "so-called" government competition.

Out of Same Barrel

The National Association of Electric Companies is perfectly willing that the taxpayers stand the expense of building the huge hydroelectric dams, that taxpayers stand the expense of providing irrigation, reclamation, recreational facilities and flood prevention. These, the utilities say, are the functions of government. But the hydroelectricity which is electricity, should be turned over to private industry to deliver and charge.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET Undaunted, Unhaunted Gotham Finds a Ghost Story of Its Own

By BILLY ROSE

We men of Manhattan are an undaunted and unhaunted lot—or at least think we are—and so ghost stories seldom stand a ghost of a chance in this town.

The other night, however, a real estate man buttonholed me coming out of "21" and told me a chiller about a deserted house in the Flushing section of Queens, and on the off-chance that your scalp can use a tingle or two, I'd like to pass it along . . .

On the night of the big snow three winters ago, a doctor in Queens answered his doorbell and found a smallish man in a faded mackinaw standing on the stoop.

"My wife is very sick," he said. "I hate to ask you to come out on a night like this, but it's only a few blocks."

The doctor followed him to a large wooden house near the intersection of Vine Street and Broadway, and when the man unlocked the door the physician could see by the glow of an unshaded kerosene lamp that the lower floor was empty except for a few kitchen chairs and a length of carpet.

"THIS IS NO PLACE for a sick woman," he said. "You ought to have some heat in the house."

The man led him up a creaky set of stairs to the second floor, and in the front room an emaciated woman was lying in an old four-poster bed. She kept coughing into a blood-stained handkerchief, and though the doctor went through the motions of an examination he knew at once it was an advanced case of tuberculosis.

"I can give her something to relieve the congestion," he told her husband, "but she'll have to be moved to a hospital first thing in the morning."

He then wrote out a prescription. "I'll get it filled right away," said the man, and showed the doctor to the door.

Next morning, wondering how the woman was getting along, the physician stopped by the wooden house, but there was no answer when he rang the bell. Moreover, there were no tracks in the snow to indicate that an ambulance or any other vehicle had pulled up in front of the place.

Puzzled, he went to the office of a real estate agent on the next street and asked if he could get some information about the residents of the house.

"THAT'S A FUNNY sort of question," said the agent. "There aren't any residents and there aren't likely to be any. The house hasn't been occupied in 15 years, and though it's always been on my list, nobody's ever wanted it."

"Do you think squatters might be living in it on account of the housing shortage?" asked the doctor.

"Could be, but I doubt it," said the agent. "There's been a lot of queer talk about that house, and the last family that moved in during the depression could only stand it for a few weeks. The husband and wife slept in the front room on the second floor, and to hear them tell it they were kept awake night after night by the sound of a woman coughing. It finally got so bad they packed and left."

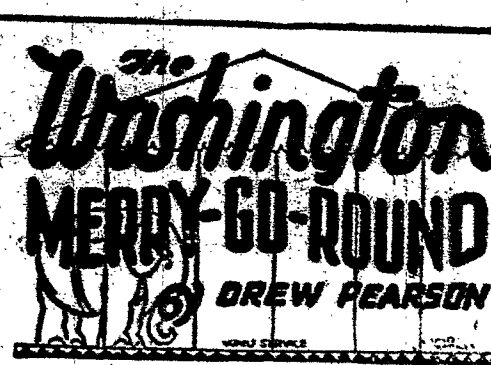

"I know its sounds absurd," said the doctor, "but I examined a sick woman there last night, and if you've got a key I'll walk over with you and prove it."

When they got to the house, it took the agent quite a while to get the rusty lock open, and when they entered there wasn't a stick of furniture in sight. "I could have sworn I saw some chairs and a carpet down here last night," said the doctor.

"Maybe you've got this house mixed up with another one," the agent suggested.

"I still think it's the same place. Let's look upstairs."

On the second floor they went into the front room. It was also empty. Empty, that is, except for a piece of paper on the window sill—the prescription the doctor had written the night before.

New Weapon Developed

THE NAVY is itching to rip the "top secret" label from the most revolutionary weapon since the atomic bomb—the guided missile. Reason for the navy's itchy fingers is that it thinks guided missiles may make the big bomber as obsolete as the dodo.

Here are some of the facts which can be revealed without giving aid and comfort to the enemy:

1. The guided missile is guided unerringly to the target by radio echoes. If, for instance, a missile is fired five miles to one side of the target, it will automatically change its course while in the air and hit the target. The exact distance a homing missile will change its course remains a military secret; but the effect is that of a magnet drawing a bullet to the target. It cannot miss.

2. The joint chiefs of staff, including sober, cautious Gen. Omar Bradley, were so impressed by homing missiles they persuaded reluctant Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson to earmark millions for mass experimentation and production. Johnson has finally approved an order.

3. The navy in its new construction program now before congress proposes two cruisers and a number of small vessels and submarines be converted into guided-missile carriers.

4. The navy has developed anti-submarine and anti-ship missiles which will drive under water and speed toward a fast-moving ship. This may make the transportation of troops in wartime almost impossible.

5. It will also be fairly easy to shoot down invading airplanes. As yet, the navy's guided-missile research reported to the secretary of the navy: "The highest priority goes to those missiles whose targets will be hostile aircraft. The pendulum swings one way and then the other. The guided missile shows promise of achieving a quantum jump in the effectiveness of weapons available to a task force against the bomber. Success is inevitable."

The Navy's "Lark"

The only missile which can be described in print is called the Lark. It is purchased $2 from the navy. It also went to bat with Secretary Johnson in demanding that funds be allocated for further developments.

Note—Another weapon in the navy's bag of scientific tricks is a pilotless ram jet plane. It operates on a rational principle—the more air it rams into, the faster it goes.

It is a healthy fact that the air force, instead of hucking a navy development which may put big bombers out of business, is giving 100 per cent cooperation to the navy. In fact, the air force was so impressed with the Lark, it purchased $2 from the navy. It also went to bat with Secretary Johnson in demanding that funds be allocated for further developments.

No relation to the Wisconsin senator, McCarthy is a graduate of Paul McNutt's old Indiana machine, and is now Washington lobbyist for some of the railroads which would profit by more cross-hauls under the Basing-Point bill.

McCarthy's infectious good humor helped to line up such Democratic bigwigs as Sen. Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, and spurred on older statesman Sen. Joe O'Rahoney of Wyoming.

Note—Lobbying against the bill on the Republican side during the senate debate was done by William Simon, former counsel to the Capehart committee on trade practices, now an $1,800-a-month lobbyist. At the time Simon was working for Senator Capehart, he also lobbied with the federal trade commission on behalf of alleged violators of the trade practices he was supposed to be investigating. And Senator Capehart let him get away with it.

Basing-Point Lobby

A genial back-slapping lobbyist named Frank McCarthy is one reason administration ranks have been split wide open over the hot Basing-Point bill.

Merry-Go-Round

Ex-Sen. John Sherman Cooper, the state department's Republican adviser, has his eye on the governor's mansion in Kentucky. The popular and liberal Cooper may run in 1951. A win would put him in the spotlight at the 1952 GOP national convention.

The Republican primary in Tennessee's first district is a bitter scrap between right and left wings of the party. Congressman Dayton E. Phillips, a GOP progressive, is opposed by mossback ex-Congressman Carroll Reece.

Home Week Set For July 24-27

State College, Miss.—Annual Home Week, expected this year to be bigger than ever and with many added features, will be held here July 24-27, according to Dr. Fred T. Mitchell, president, Mississippi State College, and L. I. Jones, Agricultural Extension director and chairman of the steering committee.

Exhibits, outstanding speakers, entertainments and tours of the Agricultural Experiment Station and College farms are on the program.

A "Made in Mississippi" exhibit section will be a new educational feature this year. The latest in home conveniences and farm machinery will again be on exhibit, and are expected to make even a bigger show than the half million dollar one of last year, stated J. T. Copeland, Extension agricultural engineer and chairman of the exhibits committee.

Progress already made in balancing the state's agriculture with industry will be seen in the "Made in Mississippi" exhibit section. Plans call for grouping products into the general classes of ceramics, construction materials, fabric and clothing, food, furniture, machines and milled and processed products.

A large part of the Mississippi products will be consumers' goods of the kind used by every family.

The four-day program will center attention each day on an especially important phase of rural life requiring this in the general assembly period. Except during one meeting of less than an hour for everyone numerous activities of interest to different groups will be going on at once.

Monday, July 24, will be Home-makers' Day. Speaker at the general assembly that evening will be Dr. Negie Todhunter, head, department of foods and nutrition, University of Alabama.

Tuesday will be the day for Rural Ministers and Editors, and the speaker will be Dr. Jack Walton of Duke University.

Soil Conservation Day will be observed Wednesday. The speaker will be announced later.

Thursday will be Agriculture, Industry and Farm Organization Day. Former Governor, Hugh White will deliver the main address.

Two tours will begin early each day. One group will see the college dairy herd and pastures, as well as experimental work in forestry and crops on the north college farm.

The group heading south will see the Experiment Station's beef cattle, sheep and hogs. They will observe fertility and variety tests with cotton, corn and other crops.

Tours later in the day will include the poultry department and horticulture greenhouses.

Everyone attending Farm and Home Week will have plenty of opportunity to make every tour. Entertainment will include singing, square dancing, a dress review, gypsy music and folklore.

HOUSED IN DORMITORIES
Visitors attending Farm and Home Week will be housed in college dormitories at 75 cents per night for adults and 50 cents for children. Bring linen, pillow and towels.

Reasonably-priced meals can be obtained at the college Cafeteria or Grill.

Visit the college for a single day during Farm and Home Week or for the entire program, but try to make it all four days, urged the Farm and Home Week committee.

There is no advance registration. See the local Agricultural Extension county agent or home demonstration agent for more details.

THE KOREAN situation could develop into one of three things; it could mean the beginning of World War III. It could result in a trial ground for the demonstration of the most modern weapons of warfare between the United States, England, and the other Western Allies on the one hand and Russia on the other. This was what happened in Spain prior to World War II. And, lastly, it could fizzle out and be treated by the world powers as merely an incident.

A grim calmness pervaded the Capitol last week as the Korean situation was watched with an interest reminiscent of war days. The President's dramatic and historical announcement that we would use military force to protect Formosa and South Korea was received in Congress with jubilation and approval. The extension of the draft law for a year—a week ago somewhat controversial—was passed by the House few hours after the President's announcement.

The invasion into South Korea was not unexpected. It has been forecast for months, and many had urged the President last year to tell the world we would lend military assistance to South Korea if it should be attacked. But it was announced months ago that both Formosa and Korea were not considered essential to U. S. defense.

Now, however, the picture has changed, and little Korea has become the symbol of freedom, of the right to live in peace and security in a world surrounded by Communist brigands.

If you will look at your map you will see that Korea is a peninsula jutting out into the sea of Japan, a hundred miles from Tokyo. It is bounded on the northwest by Manchuria for some 500 miles, and its landed area is within 100 miles of Russia's Vladivostok. In area it's a third the size of Texas but with more than four times as many people.

Korea is highly strategic militarily from the standpoint of both Russia and Japan. Long ago Korea became to Japan "a dagger pointed at her heart." In fact Russia and Japan fought two wars in the past over control of Korea with Japan winning the 1904 contest. So in 1910 Japan annexed the peninsula, and it remained that way until the close of World War II.

Back in 1943 the United States, China and Great Britain pledged at the Cairo Conference that Korea would become independent. And later Russia subscribed to this pledge at Potsdam. But meantime at Yalta in 1945, a secret agreement is reported to have been made for Russia to capture North Korea to the 38th parallel, when the entered the Japanese war. The U. S. was to occupy the southern part.

The theory was that the military occupations would be temporary and that a free democratic government would be set up. We complied with our part of the bargain and withdrew our 80,000 troops in January of 1949.

But not so with Russia. She refused to allow North Korea to hold a free election or join in any sort of united government. Instead, a puppet government in the North was set up, asserting control over the south as well. A free election conducted by the United Nations created the Southern Republic, and it claimed jurisdiction over the north where the Russians would not permit an election.

In the meantime the United Nations took a hand to try to break the stalemate. A UN commission was sent to Korea to get the facts. But it was stopped at the 38th parallel and was not allowed inside the Russian dominated portion. The election in the south followed.

Moscow claimed its troops were withdrawn from Korea in December of 1948.

Now the UN has condemned the recent invasion, and the United States, supporting the UN declaration is giving military aid to the embattled southerners.

Time and the Soviet Dictatorship alone will determine the final outcome. The general consensus of the best informed people in Washington is that Russia will not throw her armed forces into the conflict, but rather that she will permit her puppet Korean and Chinese governments to bear the blunt of this new attempt to override the world with Communism. Russia has never operated in that manner. As we have repeatedly pointed out, she is not ready nor willing to have a showdown by force of arms.

Control of Cut Worms

State College, Miss.—Cut worms which are causing much damage on Miss. farms can be controlled either with toxaphene spray or dust, or with poison bait, advises L. C. Murphree, Agricultural Extension Service entomologist.

The damage is being reported from all sections of the state, the entomologist said. Cut worms are attacking cotton, vetch, peas and clover and legume fields.

Delay in applying control measures may prove disastrous to the crops, Mr. Murphree declared. Begin control as soon as the worms are noticed in the fields.

Toxaphene for cut worm control can be used either as spray or dust.

For spraying use two pounds of technical toxaphene per acre. Make spray by mixing one-half gallon of toxaphene emulsion, containing four pounds of toxaphene per gallon, with necessary water to cover one acre. With most tractor sprayers this will be two to three gallons of water when all nozzle connections are used.

Dust with 10 to 15 pounds of 20 percent toxaphene dust per acre.

Poison baits are less expensive and may be used to advantage, especially where cut worms are moving from one field to another.

To prepare bait, use 100 pounds of bran or shorts and 10 to 15 gallons of water. Choose for the poison is either one pound of toxaphene, or four pounds of sodium fluosulfate, or four pounds of paris green.

If toxaphene is used for bait, mix one quart of toxaphene emulsion, containing four pounds of toxaphene per gallon, with 8 to 10 gallons of water. Then add to the 100 pounds of wheat bran.

Scatter approximately 20 pounds of bait per acre, preferably late in the afternoon.

A great fortune is a great slavery.

Khrustalev Had a Lot of Crust Saying Bad Things About Rose

By BILLY ROSE

Generalissimo Joseph V. Stalin, Chairman, Council of Ministers Kremlin, Moscow, U. S. S. R.

Dear Joe:

If I may be so bold, I'd like to call your attention to a matter which is no laughing matter, even though it's been getting a lot of laughs lately. Namely, the recent efforts of your propaganda boys to win friends and influence people in this part of the world.

Take, for instance, last winter's lollipopooza about how your engineers were nudging mountains with uranium. We generate dynamite, whether you know it or not, are a fact-minded people who thrive on details. When a fellow says he's a Napoleon we want to see his birth certificate, and when Joe's stomized an Alp we want to see the hole in the ground.

Then there were the recent hum-dingers which claimed that every dudod, from the wheel to the flying saucer had been invented by a Russian. Now, I can't doubt that many an important idea has been hatched between the Carpathians and the Urals, but when your propaganda machine gives the rest of the world credit for nothing but the world credit and the bubonic plague, Lindy hop and the bubonic plague, a lot of folks who might otherwise be friendly begin to titter—and even your legitimate claims get lost in the chuckle.

OUR MASS REACTIONS were neatly summed up a few months ago when The New Yorker cartooned a group of your agents in China discussing policy. "The main thing is to handle them with tact," said one of them. "Let them think they invented gunpowder." Some issues later, the same periodical ran another capitious cartoon in which several Politburocrats were debating the question, "Shall we invent television now or wait until their perfect color?"

As another, and admittedly picaresque, example of what I'm getting at, let me tell you about my own experiences with your editors and copywriters.

Every now and occasionally, as some idle-eye in your press division has apparently noticed, I take a playful poke at your regime in my column—an event which certainly doesn't figure to precipitate a crisis of state. But instead of filing it in the wastebasket and going about their business, your name-callers have twice made the mistake of answering back—and both times with the finesse of a lumberjack trying to tat.

The first time, a year ago, both Pravda and Izvestia reported I was a "white slave" and that my humpty-dumpty little cabaret was "the biggest bordel in the world." And as if that weren't enough, they went on to say that my partners in this enterprise were John Edgar Hoover and Bernard M. Baruch.

Well, as might have been expected, this bombastic bombshell exploded nothing but giggles. Time magazine reprinted the item as a gag, my chorus girls threatened to picket the Russian consulate, and the syndicate which handles my stuff picked up a few more papers.

ALL OF WHICH should have taught your word-wasters a lesson, but it didn't. A few days ago, someone mailed me the February issue of your magazine, Novy Mir (New World), and—lo and surprise!—in it was an article by one P. Khrustalev which, by way of documenting the degeneracy of American culture, described me as "a gangster with three chins" who "murdered a man and grabbed his capital."

I took this, I assure you, at a plaudit rather than a potshot. On your way up, as I get it, you knocked off a couple of banks yourself, and since have undoubtedly knocked off an opponent or three. Khrustalev, it was evident, meant to be complimentary when he word-painted me in the image of Soviet Citizen No. 1.

All kidding aside, though, don't you think it's about time you sent your typewriter assassins and pointed out that their releases are getting more howls than hosannas? And while you're at it, you might point out that Joe Goebbels' theory—the bigger the lie the more apt it is to be believed—only works with people who desperately want to believe the lie.

One thing more: I fraternally suggest you keep an eye on this Khrustalev fellow who said I had three chins. Such a man, in a reckless moment, might describe his premier as having two heads.

Sincerely, Billy Rose

Weiss - Edwards Wedding Held

A wedding claiming interest here was that of Miss Catherine Torres Edwards, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Wiltz Edwards Sr. and the late Edwin Wiltz Edwards of Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, and Dr. Thomas Edward Weiss, son of Mrs. Carl Weiss and the late Mr. Weiss of Baton Rouge, which was solemnized at a nuptial Mass at St. Rita's Catholic church, New Orleans, Thursday, June 29 at 10 a. m. Right Rev. Monsignor William J. Castel performed the ceremony before an altar banked with white gladioli and flesh colored peonies. Tall baskets with similar white flowers were on either side of the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Edwin Wiltz Edwards, was gowned in a dress of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The tight fitting lace bodice was fashioned with a high neckline finished with a tulle yoke edged with appliques of lace. The long lace sleeves ended in a point over the hand.

Alternating panels of lace and tulle formed the skirt, which fell in a long train. Her fingertip length veil of illusion was held to her head by a pleated tulle cap trimmed to the back with a cluster of lilies of the valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and fleur d'amour.

The bride had as her matron of honor and only attendant her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edwin Wiltz Edwards, Jr., who wore a mauve nylon marquisette dress with the bodice cut in a V neckline; the full skirt was trimmed to one side with a draped effect of purple marquisette which extended to the hemline. She wore a coronet of purple velvet and mauve illusion veiling and carried a bouquet of lilies in different shades.

Dr. Weiss had as his best man Dr. Edward Matthews. The ushers were Dr. Abram Diaz, Dr. John C. Weick, Dr. H. P. Marks and Mr. Carl Weiss Jr., a nephew of the bridegroom. During the ceremony Miss Barbara Bierman sang Gounod's Ave Maria, Panis Angelicus and Lord, I am Not Worthy.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, at 5830-South Galvez street. Mrs. Edwards, wearing a navy sheer dress and navy and pale blue hat and a corsage of light blue cornflowers, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Weiss, the bridegroom's mother, who wore a printed sheer gown and a corsage of white gardenias.

The couple left later in the day for a month's trip, to Mexico. For going away, the bride wore a printed crepe suit-dress with the color, Cocoa brown, combined with burgundy, white and gray. Her hat was a small white straw, and she wore wine colored linen shoes and a corsage of burgundy colored carnations. Upon their return they will be at home at 5835 Clara street.

The bride is a graduate of Ursuline College, New Orleans, and was a member of the New Orleans Public school faculty for two years. Her mother was the former Miss Catherine Torres of New Orleans.

Dr. Weiss received his M. D. degree from the Tulane University School of Medicine where he was a member of the Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity. He was a major in the medical corps of the U. S. Army serving in the European, Pacific and African theaters during World War II.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were her sister, Mrs. W. A. Neale, and children of Alexandria, Virginia, and Mrs. John T. Edwards, of Joplin, Missouri; Dr. Weiss' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bourgeois; Carl Weiss, Jr. of New York; Mrs. Thomas Joyce, Mrs. D. L. Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Griffin of Gulfport, the bride's aunt and uncle, Miss May H. Edwards, John K. Edwards and George H. Edwards and Miss Elsie Spori, Bay St. Louis.

Attend Scout Jamboree

Royal Haggerty, son of Col. and Mrs. Roy N. Haggerty of Pass Christian, is attending the Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. He left June 25 from New Orleans and arrived there June 27. The Jamboree was formally opened Friday, June 30, with an address by President Harry S. Truman.

Wallace Farragut, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Farragut, of Pass Christian, is in Valley Forge, Penn., where he is attending the Boy Scout Jamboree. Farragut left with seventy boys from New Orleans, and the train picked up additional contingents from Mississippi and Alabama and other places along the route. There were four hundred boys aboard when they arrived in Valley Forge Tuesday.

Vincent Caruso Weds Johanna M. Castiglia

Miss Johanna Marie Castiglia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Castiglia of Birmingham, Ala., and Vincent Pascal Caruso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Caruso of Bay St. Louis, were married at St. Paul's Catholic church, Birmingham, June 6.

Father Gregory officiated before an altar banked with palms and baskets of white gladioli, calla lilies and larkspur.

The bride's attendants were Miss Victoria Sala, maid of honor, and Mrs. Angelo F. Rumore, matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Frances Lusco and Mary Jane Citrano. Cecilia nn Castiglia, the bride's sister, was flower girl.

The maid of honor and flower girl wore lavender gowns, and the matron of honor and bridesmaids wore Nile green gowns of nylon marquisette and Chantilly lace. The dresses were styled alike with weskit effect lace bodice and waltz-length circular skirts. They wore matching poke-bonnets and carried bouquets of carnations and pompons.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of canglelight satin and rosepoint lace fashioned with a queen's neckline embroidered with pearls, bugle beads and imported rhinestones. The full skirt had an applique lace apron effect that formed a bustle in the back. The fingertip, illusion veil fell from a tiara of rosepoint lace over shirred French marquisette. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid.

Luke Caruso, Bay St. Louis, was his brother's best man. Ushers were Vincent Mostro, Harold J. Rassel, Chicago; Robert V. Scalco, Angelo F. Rumore, George DiGiorgio and Vincent A. Caruso. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at Highland Terrace. Gardens. The bride's table was covered with a cutwork Madeira cloth over pink and centered with the tiered wedding cake. Candles in crystal candelabra and arrangements of mixed flowers completed the decorations.

Mrs. D. Castiglia cut the cake, assisted by Mrs. V. A. Scalco. Serving were Mrs. P. A. Timbrello, Mrs. Louis Trapolino and Miss Jeannette Caruso.

For traveling the bride wore a tan suit with a pink chiffon hat and navy accessories. Following the wedding trip to Daytona Beach, the couple will be at home in Tuscaloosa where the bridegroom is a student in the engineering college.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1950

His "Liking For Cattle" Nets Karl Goss $5000 Per Year; Uses Planned Program

The F. H. A. and G. I. training bill enabled Karl Goss to begin what will some day be one of the wealthiest farms in Hancock County.

Mr. Goss, who was born in Caesar community on January 25, 1922, is the son of Dr. F. Z. Goss, who at the age of 71, is one of the few remaining country doctors still practicing medicine. Dr. Goss started in 1905. Karl attended school at Kiln and Caesar.

It was Dr. Goss who started his son in his chosen field—farming. During the war years Dr. Goss divided the old homestead among his children and when Karl returned from service he thought he would experiment and see what he could do with his section of 35-37 acres. Goss said he "just liked to be around cattle" and gave this as his reason for starting in the farming business. This liking for cattle will probably net him around $5000 per year.

38 MONTHS IN NAVY

During the war this young farmer served thirty-eight months with the U. S. Navy, thirty-six months were spent in the Pacific. Water Tender 2-c Goss saw action in all of the major battles from Guadalcanal to the close of the war with the exception of two Jima. He was stationed on the aircraft carrier "Suwannee," which was the first ship on which the Japanese used suicide planes.

Upon his return from service he began his little experiment—which has grown to greater proportions—and in January 1946, he was married to the former Wanda Finchen of Galveston, Texas. They have one son, Karl Goss, Jr., who is two years old. Goss is presently receiving training from Mr. Weston under the terms of the G. I. Bill of Rights allowing on the job farm training. He has two years left on the G. I. program.

The Farmer's Home Administration is financing Goss in pasture development and any new ground he may purchase. They also bought him a new tractor and implements and they are going to finance the building of a new home which will be completed in about fifteen months. The total development plan will be completed at an approximate cost of $7,000. Mr. Burrill, director, stated. The F. H. A. was willing to help Goss because they knew he was willing to work and make a success of his farm. The FHA was willing to finance his project regardless of the amount, and will finance others if they have the ambition that Karl has.

Karl follows a well rounded conservation program by utilizing all available help from the various agricultural agencies in the County. His summer pasture contains Bermuda and carpet grass; and white Dutch clover, Howard Simmons, County Agent, Karl Jr., and Karl Goss, look over some of Goss' cattle as they graze on his pasture which follows a definite program.

Bahia grass, oats and rye grass, make up his winter pasture program.

WELL GRAZED PASTURE

Goss, in the next two years, intends to buy more cows and develop all pasture land. He has just acquired 32 acres from a brother; this is another part of the old homestead. At present he has 18 head of cattle and is milking twelve cows. In December, 1949, he started grazing his 28 head of livestock on the 37 acres he has planted in White Dutch clover. They grazed continuously from December to June.

Last year Goss got eleven months grazing out of his white Dutch clover and Bermuda grass. As a result of using the above pasture he had a one-third increase in the amount of milk.

Goss, who is wholly dependent on dairying, uses the artificial breeding program in Picayune for some of his cattle; he is breeding his cows to a Holstein bull.

He will harvest about 600 pounds of seed—after all the grazing the pasture has had—although the cows were never taken off the White Dutch clover pasture to permit it to go to seed. In addition to harvesting approximately 600 pounds of seed to be used elsewhere on the property he estimated enough seed would be left to reseed that area combined.

The F. H. A. must realize now that they do not take a risk or suffer a loss when they help men like this young, energetic and capable Karl Goss get started in developing his pasture and home. It is men like this who have foresight in developing Hancock County. The F. H. A.'s faith in Goss proves he has faith in what the future will bring.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Plan Now To Attend Farm & Home Week

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

Farm and Home Week at State College isn't until the last week of July, but it isn't a bit too early to be making plans to attend. The dates are July 24-27.

Join the farm folks who will be on hand for the talks and tours, the exhibits and entertainment. This is "The Big Week of the year in Mississippi Agriculture," you know.

The exhibits this year are going to feature "Made in Mississippi" products. They will also show the latest in home conveniences and farm machinery. The "Made in Mississippi" exhibits will include ceramics, construction materials, fabrics and clothing, food, furniture machines and milled and processed products—the kind of goods used by every family.

Monday, July 24, will be Home-maker's Day. Dr. Neige Todhunter, head of the department of foods and nutrition, University of Alabama, will speak Monday evening.

Dr. Jack Walton of Duke University will be feature speaker on Tuesday, the special day for rural ministers.

Soil Conservation Day will be Wednesday. Thursday will be Agriculture, Industry, Farm Organization and Press Day; with former Governor Hugh White scheduled to make the main address.

The tours will take groups to see the college dairy herds and pastures, poultry department and greenhouses, experimental work in forestry and crops, beef cattle, sheep and hogs.

Entertainment will include group singing, square dancing, a dress revue, gypsy music and folklore. Visitors will be housed in college dormitories and will find reasonably priced meals at the college cafeteria and grill.

Come in, let's make plans to visit the State College campus for all four days—or at least for one day, anyway.

STATE HOME DEMONSTRATION COUNCIL

The State Home Demonstration Council will hold its annual meeting at State College during Farm and Home Week. The programs are being so arranged that the business sessions of the council will not overlap the special programs and speakers on the Farm and Home Week program.

At this state council meeting the work of the past year by home demonstration clubs and their 23,000 members will be reported and plans are made for the coming year's work.

Plans for entertaining home demonstration club women from other states will be one of the big business matters to come before the council. The Mississippi Council will be hostess to the National Home Demonstration Council in Biloxi on October 16 through 19.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

Farm and Home Week and National Farm Safety are both to be observed the last week in July. President Truman and state governors throughout the Nation have proclaimed July 23-29 National Farm Safety Week.

Be careful—not just this one special week, but every minute, day and week. During this one week make a "New Year's Resolution" to learn and practice safety rules. Remove accident hazards. Resolve to bring the farm accident rate down.

GUESTS OF BOHS

Ensign and Mrs. Roger M. Boh Jr., from Pensacola, Florida, spent the past week here with Ensign Boh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boh Sr.

GUESTS OF McDONALDS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hester, Jackson, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonald and family.

Miss Dorothy Kleinhans and nephew, Hollylamb of Houston, Texas recently spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Reiss.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Pastures Take More Care In July

By Howard F. Simmons

Pastures can still be good during dry, hot July days. This just takes a little more care and management.

Mowing is the main practice in July and August.

Weeds do not grow better than grass during the summer but the livestock eat the grass and leave the weeds. Remember that weeds, bushes and briars take up moisture needed by grasses and shade out good plants.

Mowing cuts off tough grass not wanted by livestock and slows down maturity and seeding.

It takes about three times as much pasture area in July as was needed in April and May.

The permanent pasture suffers most during the summer because in many cases there is overgrazing, allowing weeds, bushes and briars to take over. Care of the permanent pasture now will tell how good it will be in the fall.

Dallis and Bermuda, following spring clovers should be grazed about one-half time.

No Dallis grass pasture will do its best if it is all in one area. At least two pastures are needed, and both should have water and shade.

A good system is to graze on Dallis grass pasture for a week, and then graze the other a week, giving each an alternate week of rest. The electric fence can be used to divide pastures.

Millet or soybeans should be grazed one hour in the morning and one hour after supper with three dairy cows per acre. Beef cows can graze two hours at one time, using three cows per acre.

Lespedeza following oat harvest should be grazed two hours daily with cattle. Sheep should remain in temporary grazing all during July.

Hogs can graze on grass, pasture and begin grazing in corn and bean fields if corn has reached the heavy dough stage.

This is the end of the grain sorghum planted period. Grain sorghum should be planted in rows at once, drilling eight pounds per acre. Apply 30 pounds of mixed fertilizer at the time of planting, and side dress with one sack of nitrate of soda at first cultivation.

JULY GARDENING

July marks the end of the spring gardening season and the beginning of the fall garden. Continue with year-round vegetables gardening by doing the following jobs this month:

For best results from July planting, open a trench, fill with water and allow the water to soak in. Then sow the seed, cover with dry soil and press down with a hoe or rake.

Harvest potatoes and onions if this has not been done. Store potatoes in crates in a dark, cool place. Store onions in a dry, well ventilated shed.

Save dry peas and beans for winter use. Also save garden seed for next year.

Set tomato suckers in a well prepared row, irrigating if possible. Sprout Irish potato seed in late July for August planting.

Prepare soil for August planting. Add four to five pounds of 5-10-15 fertilizer per 100 feet of row space 10 days before planting fall crops. Work well into the soil.

Lawyers, CPA's Hold Tax Institute

Hattiesburg, Miss., June 13—The first annual Lawyers' and Certified Public Accountants' Tax Institute of Mississippi will be held on the campus of Mississippi Southern College on August 18 and 19, Dr. R. C. Cook, president of the college, announced today.

This is the first Tax Institute in Mississippi and the nation to be sponsored jointly by lawyers and CPAs.

Sponsoring the institute are the Junior Bar Section of the Mississippi State Bar Association; the Mississippi Society of Certified Public Accountants; the Forrester County Bar Association; the Hattiesburg Association of Certified Public Accountant and Mississippi Southern College.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Nationally known tax attorneys and CPAs will be principal speakers for the two-day Tax Institute. Among those on the program will be H. Cecil Kilpatrick of Washington, D. C., chairman, Taxation Section of the American Bar Association; E. Charles Eichenbarm of Little Rock, Ark., member of the Taxation Section of the American Bar Association; Oliver W. Hammond of Dallas, Texas, nationally known authority in the field of oil and gas taxation, recently a lecturer at the New York University Eighth Tax Institute and a lecturer this summer at the Ninth Annual Summer Session of the Practising Law Institute to be held in New York City; Mark E. Richardson, CPA of Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. Chairman of the Committee on Federation Taxation, American Institute of Accountants, writer and lecturer on taxation and W. B. Goode, CPA of Dallas, Texas and nationally known authority in oil and gas taxation.

All lectures will be held in the air-conditioned library of Mississippi Southern College. Facilities for food and housing will be available at the college.

A highlight of the institute will be a banquet Friday evening August 18. Several distinguished guests have been invited, including Governor Feilding L. Wright.

PURPOSE OF INSTITUTE

The purpose of the Institute is to give lawyers and certified public accountants an opportunity to discuss together current developments in the field of taxation. While it is primarily for these two professional groups, others interested may attend. A small registration fee will be charged.

Those in charge of planning the institute program are Sam R. Tidwell, head of the accounting Department of Mississippi Southern College, J. S. Albritton, chairman of the Committee on Bar Cooperation, Mississippi Society of Certified Public Accountants and President of the Hattiesburg Association of Certified Public Accountants. W. Arlington Jones president of the Junior Bar Section of the Mississippi State Bar Association and president of the Forrester County Bar Association, and O. B. Emerson, CPA and lecturer in accounting at Mississippi Southern College.

VISITS BROTHER

Mrs. C. Maumus and son, Cecil, of New Orleans is visiting at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Raymond, Jr., and family.

Government Prints Effects of A-Bomb

A description of just what happens when an atomic bomb explodes will soon be available to the public in an official Government document now being printed at the Government Printing Office. Entitled "The Effects of Atomic Weapons," the book will be released about August 1, and advance orders may now be placed with the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C., at $1.25 per copy. All proceeds from the sale go to the Government.

Of primary interest to persons engaged in civilian defense and the building trades, the book contains previously unpublished details on atomic explosions. The damage caused by the atomic bombs in Japan is examined with estimates of the probable effects on American cities. The types of buildings which best withstand the shock and the hazards of various radiations are described and illustrated.

The book was prepared by the Atomic Energy Commission from non-confidential scientific and technical information. It is the most informative and authoritative book on atomic weapons which can be made public and is the most significant document to be published since the Smythe Report.

on Trees

That's right! Today's popular novels, up-to-date histories and technical handbooks, once were trees in our forests. It was the magic of wood chemistry which converted them to paper and started them on the way to your library.

Books are only one of the many things for which we depend on our forests. Daily, we use hundreds of articles made from trees.

If our children—and their children, too—are to enjoy the blessings of abundant wood supplies, we must protect our tree-growing lands. If our forests are to produce continuing crops of trees, they must be kept free of fire. Fire is the most dangerous enemy of our forest future. Do your share to KEEP AMERICA GREEN!

Gov. Issues Safety Proclamation

"Mississippi Safety Week" will be observed during the period July 23rd-29th under the provisions of a proclamation issued by Governor Fielding L. Wright.

In his proclamation the Governor called attention to the terrific toll in life time and property being taken annually by accidents in this state and pointed to the need for "concerted endeavor to make every person in Mississippi 'safety conscious'."

LEND SUPPORT

Governor Wright urged all citizens to lend their support to the Mississippi Safety Council by becoming members of the organization and thus helping through membership fees to enable the organization to carry out a full-time safety program.

"The Mississippi Safety Council has declared war on accidents and the deaths, injuries and millions of dollars in economic loss resulting therefrom," said Lonnie P. Sweet, of Gulfport, President of the Mississippi Safety Council. "During the week of July 23rd we are planning to pledge at least 100,000 Mississippi drivers to a safe operation of their vehicles in an effort to help make our driving public more safety conscious."

"During this period we are urging every Mississippian to join the Mississippi Safety Council in order that a thorough program may be developed to bring home the message of safety to every one of our people. Individual memberships are $2.00; contributing memberships $25.00; and sustaining memberships $100.00."

Governor Wright is serving as Honorary Membership Chairman for the Council, and Mr. Clint Seay, of Jackson, Council Vice-President, is serving as active chairman for the drive members. A membership chairman will be appointed for each county in the state.

"We hope that during the week of July 23rd every church, every civic club, and every citizen will take an active part in this drive to unite Mississippians in a constructive safety program. It's a matter of Life and Death for you and me."

Following is Governor Wright's proclamation:

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, death, injury and millions of dollars in economic loss continue to ride hand in hand upon our Mississippi highways, on our farms, in our industries, and in the many varied enterprises and activities with which our people are engaged; and

Whereas, in order to bring about a reduction in the tragic annual toll now being registered we must exercise every effort toward uniting our people in a concerted endeavor to make every person in Mississippi "safety conscious;" and

Whereas, the Mississippi Safety Council, organized following the first Mississippi Highway Safety Conference last fall, furnishes an organization through which our people can unite their efforts; and

Whereas, the Mississippi Safety Council desires and must have the active help of all the people of this state if it is to succeed and have funds available with which to carry out a full-time safety program for the benefit of all our people; and

Whereas, the week of July 23rd has already been designated throughout the nation as National Farm Safety Week and it is desirable to recognize this week and to set aside a special week for general safety emphasis in this state; now

Therefore, I Fielding L. Wright, Governor of the State of Mississippi, do hereby proclaim the week of July 23rd-29th as and do hereby urge that during this period our people will focus their special attention on safety in this state and the ways and means by which all our people can be made safety conscious, and do further urge that during this period our people will lend their aid to the Mississippi Safety Council by giving their wholehearted support to that organization's membership drive and becoming members thereof, and further urge that all officials, civic groups, trade associations, newspapers, radio stations and individual citizens join this crusade for safety with their active support and assistance to the end that here in Mississippi we may reduce death and injury from accidents to an irreducible minimum.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed, this 2nd day of June, 1950.

F. WRIGHT,
Governor.

The rate of our health progress again tells the story of our high grade and widespread health and medical care. In the United States a baby born in 1900 had a life expectancy of only 49 years; in longevity we, of this country, stood tenth among the nations. But babies born in 1950 have a life expectancy of more than 68 years; in length of life we now lead all big countries and are fast overtaking the best of the small ones. Swedes live longer lives in this country than they do in Sweden.

Realizes More Per Acre From Timber Than Crops

by
J. G. Guthrie, Forestry Agent
Illinois Central Railroad

W. B. Ingram, R. R. 1, Seminary, Mississippi, has evolved quite an interesting forestry plan on his farm. Mr. Ingram says that he has realized more per acre from his timber acres, than from his cropland over the years.

Mr. Ingram, or Buford, as he is called by friends, moved on his farm twenty years ago. At that time he cut enough logs from his timberland to build a five room house, barn, and three chicken houses. Mr. Ingram says he "branded" each log as it was cut so that the sawmill would cut the logs in the proper pieces of lumber needed in constructing his buildings. After the logging, enough pulpwood was sold to roof the structures. Since building, Mr. Ingram has cut logs every year since moving onto his place, from his 100 acres of wood land.

In 1941, Mr. Ingram started on a timber harvesting plan of selective cutting, but had to quit because of illness. Now this past fall, 1949, he has begun this plan again. His plan is this, to thin out inferior and slow growing trees of 20 acres each year. Mr. Ingram has a 157 acre farm of which 37 acres are in row crops, 10 acres in pasture, and 100 acres are in timberland (Ten acres are occupied by the buildings.)

Mr. Ingram hired his brother and together they "thinned" 20

Mr. Ingram is seen in the above photo as he measures one of his trees with a "cruiser stick" to estimate its board feet content. By doing this he knows the value of his trees before he cuts them. Watching his dad perform this task is Ingram's five year old son, and W. B. Gary, Covington County Soil Conservation Service Technician who is assisting Mr. Ingram with his woodland management program, as in the Illinois Central Railroad Agricultural Department. —Photo by Illinois Central R. R.

acres during this past December and January. "We did this at a time we wouldn't have been doing anything else," says Mr. Ingram, "but, by cutting out these inferior trees, and leaving my best growing ones, my woods are becoming more valuable each year. It will take us about 6 years to thin the whole tract and by then we will be able to start over again."

This year Mr. Ingram and his brother cut 12,000 feet of saw logs, and 17 units of pulp wood from the 20 acres they thinned this year. "By doing all the work myself," said Mr. Ingram, "I netted $28.00 per thousand board feet after paying all of my expenses." Mr. Ingram says the real money in timber for the farmer is for him to do his own logging. "All the logging equipment I have, are a team of mules and wagon, besides my axe and saws."

"Yes sir, I certainly am proud of my timber lands, as they have made me $11.00 per acre each year, and they required less care than any of my other land. They take care of me so I'll take care of them," he meditated.

Asked if he's given his timber any special care, Mr. Ingram said, "I've kept fire out the best I could for the last 18 years, and I try to keep the cull hardwoods trimmed down. Mr. Ingram went on to say, "I've realized more clear money from my timber land than any of my crop land, and I plan to keep it up. Why, even if a man gets past 60 years old, he can hire someone else to do the cutting, and still make a good profit."

Hospitality Entry

Miss Lynn Greene, 19-year old, green-eyed blond, will represent Bay Springs in the "Miss Hospitality" contest being staged by the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board at Biloxi July 12-15th. 50,000 Guardsmen Prepare for ROC Camp

Third Army Headquarters, Atlanta, June 30—Some 50,000 National Guardsmen of the seven southeastern states are packing their barracks bags and making final preparations for their annual two weeks' encampments which will be held during the months of July and August.

The Guard's field training will be in camps at Fort Jackson, near Columbia, S. C., Fort McClellan, Anniston, Ala., and Camp Stewart, near Hinesville, Ga.

Probably the biggest encampment of all will be at Fort McClellan, July 1 to 23, when the State contract obligating them to practice in the State of Mississippi under certain regulations prescribed by the legislation or through the administering agency, as designated in the legislation, the State Medical Education Board.

Marines Accepting Enlistments

Dispelling a current, erroneous belief on the part of the general public, Marine Captain Paul C. Trammell, officer in charge of Marine Corps Recruiting for the state of Mississippi, announced that the Marine Corps is accepting applications for immediate enlistment. Captain Trammell further stated that, as far as is known, this policy will remain in effect for an indefinite period.

QUALIFICATIONS

To qualify for enlistment in the Marines, a young man must be between the ages of 17 and 28, of good moral character and must meet the required mental and physical standards.

The current enlistment period is for four years and accepted applicants are sent from this area to Jackson and on to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. where they are given a 10-week course of recruit training. On completion of this training they receive 10 days leave prior to assignment to their first duty stations.

OFFER OPPORTUNITIES

Wide opportunities for furthering their education are offered all Marines through a number of service schools as well as through the famed Marine Corps Institute, which for the past 30 years has offered free correspondence courses in over 200 fields of knowledge.

Haggerty, Farragut Attend Scout Jamboree

Royal Haggerty, Eagle Scout, and Wallace Farragut, First Class Scout, both of Troop 219, left June 25th for the Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Penn. The boys, who motored to New Orleans with their parents, boarded a special train which was made by the New Orleans Council. The train left the City with seventy boys and picked up additional contingents, mostly from Mississippi and Alabama, along the route. There were four hundred boys aboard when they arrived in Valley Forge Tuesday morning, on the 27th. From Tuesday until Friday a Pre-Jamboree training period was held. The Jamboree was formally opened Friday, June 30th, with an address made by President Harry S. Truman.

The Jamboree will last until July 27th, with 47,000 scouts in attendance. President Truman noted in his speech that there are four times as many scouts present as General Washington had in the Continental Army at Historic Valley Forge.

The boys are housed in small tents which were provided by International House of New Orleans. Each tent has an oil painting of a scene and slogan advertising the Crescent City. National headquarters gave these tents the most prominent place in the camp.

Scouts Haggerty and Farragut were the only scouts from the Bay-Pass District to attend the Jamboree. Farragut's trip was made possible by a gift of a turkey by Col. Robinson which was raffled, together with gifts from the late Mrs. Mable Godhaux, Col. Robinson and an anonymous benefactor who paid half of the expenses. The special Jamboree uniform was purchased for Wallace by the Pass Christian Rotary Club.

Royal paid his own way to the Jamboree from his savings, he had invested in war bonds. The boys from all over the country arrange their own transportation and itinerary. Following the closing on the seventh our scouts will visit New York where they will spend two days at the armory and from there to Washington, D. C., for two days at the Raleigh hotel. They plan to return to New Orleans on July 11th.

Mr. Cary Spence, of Spence's Service Station, has taken over the local agency for the Greyhound Bus Company. Tickets will be on sale there, and bus freight will be handled.

WINS HONORS IN REGATTA

In the Biloxi Yacht Club Regatta Monday, Pass Christian won honors in the Junior inter-club race when Bill McDonald, Jr., skippered his boat across the finishing line first just twenty seconds ahead of the second place winner. Bill was presented a trophy, a silver cup, during the Regatta Ceremonies.

Pass Echoes

First Lt. Hunter H. Kimball was recently selected to compete for a regular army category. Lt. Kimball is now serving with the 19th Regiment, 24th Infantry Division, which is located on the island of Kyushu, Japan.

He is the son of Major and Mrs. H. Kimball, 953 East Beach Blvd., and the Great Southern Hotel, Gulfport.

Quite a crowd enjoyed the fireworks display at the Pass Christian Yacht Club the evening of the Fourth. In the pre-Fourth celebrations there were over two hundred in attendance at the Saturday night dance and approximately seventy two diners served before the dance.

Many of the Yacht Club members were in Biloxi for the Regatta. Mrs. Helen Holloway and her young daughters from Alabama are spending their summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Son Satamant at their home in West Second Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allen are combining a business and pleasure trip and are spending a few days visiting in Nashville, Tenn. They are expected back by the end of the week.

During their absence their son, Donald and Mrs. Avery Allen are taking over their duties in the Avalon.

Miss Adele Beilenberg plans to enter Foundation hospital in New Orleans this weekend where she will undergo an operation. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bacon will accompany her to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Aubrey and their young daughters, Pat and Betty, are spending their vacation from New Orleans with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bufkin at their home on Seal avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Hursey announce the birth of a son Sunday Morning, July 2nd, at Touro Infirmary, New Orleans. Mrs. Hursey is the former Jean Harder.

Mr. Junior Necaise sustained a broken finger in the softball games played last week.

Mr. Willie Rabouin has announced that the Pass Christian Merchants, the girls' softball team, is looking for some additional players. Any girls interested in playing please contact Mr. Rabouin at his home on Henderson avenue.

Among the summer students away at college who were home for the Fourth of July week-end were Johnnie Greco, Henrietta Ware, and Carol Knost.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bacon, nee Katherine Beilenberg, arrived home for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Katie Beilenberg, and her sister, Miss Adele Beilenberg. Mrs. Bacon is a Western Union employee in Cleveland, Tennessee.

Mrs. Hicks Sellers has been called to Mobette, Texas by the death of her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Necaise, accompanied by Mrs. Necaise's brother, Don Nicholson, from Indiana, are visiting his mother, Mrs. O. L. Necaise, in her home in Church Street.

Mrs. Amy Harwell has been released from the hospital after a recent operation and is staying with her daughter, Dorothea, in New Orleans. She is progressing rapidly toward a speedy recovery.

Oklahoma City and Lansing, Mich., tied for the National Safety Council's safest city title for 1949.

Would You Believe... By - Gone Days

By UDELL FAVRE

NOVEMBER, DECEMBER, 1908
AND JANUARY 1909

That prior to this fire, 650 trees per acre, 6 inches in diameter and larger were standing on this property.

Following the fire about ten trees of the same diameter were left alive and growing to the acre on this land located somewhere at the end of Main Street right here in Bay St. Louis.

This fire, that some careless passerby or firebug set, burned approximately twenty acres of valuable timber land that would ordinarily mean money in the pockets of a neighbor or friend. Had it not been for the Forest Service, fewer than ten trees per acre would have been left standing. Their diligence and alertness avoided a greater loss and the fire was put under control before this and other land was completely destroyed.

Forestry in this area has become a great industry and without industry a community cannot prosper; therefore, why should some uninterested and careless person be unaware of the danger of lighting a match in a dry wooded area or casting an old cigarette into a brush? Can't they realize that these actions generally start forest fires and cause millions of dollars to go up into smoke annually?

Be careful—think before you drop that match or cigarette, you may be burning the heart out of your community by destroying its timber industry. Look to the future—that little pine will some day be worth a lot to the owner.

REMEMBER WHEN

...three meals took all day

It took a lot of work, wood and worry to keep the old-fashioned kitchen stove at proper cooking temperature. But today, hundreds of thousands of Gulf South housewives get instant, controllable heat from natural gas. They may even spend the afternoon away from home while supper cooks in a modern, automatic, gas range. This is but one of the many household tasks that are made easier and more pleasant through natural gas service.

The companies which make up the natural gas industry take pride in their contributions toward better business and more convenient living for their customers. Their payrolls, royalties and dividend checks, along with many purchases of supplies and equipment from local concerns, place millions of dollars in circulation for all to share. This is private enterprise at work—for the benefit of people in all walks of life.

See the Modern, Automatic GAS Ranges now on display wherever gas appliances are sold. There's nothing as smart, as economical or as convenient as GAS.

yard. These bells were purchased from the New Orleans Cotton Exchange where they hung near the big clock in the building, ringing the whole and the half hours. They were purchased for something like $700.; the original cost was $2000. One bell was of E tone and the other C. Both were much larger than the bells destroyed by fire, and the music of their sound could be heard at a greater distance.

—The regular, monthly meeting of the Volunteer Fire Company No. 2 was held at the City Hall and four new members were elected to membership. These were Albert C. Beyer, Arthur Hebert, George Hietzmann and Emile Perre.

The following officers were elected to serve for the year: J. R. O'Malley, president; G. G. Garbled, 1st vice-president; Wilbur Driver, 2nd vice-president; H. J. Schill, foreman; Victor Favre, 1st assistant foreman; Otto Fayard, 2nd assistant foreman; Fred Gimbel, recording secretary; Dr. J. A. Evans, financial secretary; John Spotorno, treasurer; Arthur Hebert, chief engineer; Lindsey Norris, George Hietzmann, Andre Lubeigt, Octave Favre, Alaine Saucier, Emile Perre and Joseph Pravata as nozzlemen.

—The first wedding to take place in the new Church of Our Lady of the Gulf was that of Miss Elise Perre and Mr. Frank Xavier Quintini on January 27, 1909.

It's No Bull

State College, Miss.—It's no bull that a bull used by the artificial dairy breeding program may give a calf capable of making $43.40 more per year than a calf sired by a son of the program, according to Elbert L. McLaughlin, associate Extension dairyman.

Citing actual records to point out the monetary advantages of using the artificial breeding program instead of by artificial insemination, Mr. McLaughlin declared that in the second generation the profit increased to $65.80 more per year for each calf.

Although the specialist admitted that bulls which some farmers buy that are sired by artificial insemination and out of a neighbor's good cow are better than the general run of bulls, the calves do not bring as much money as calves directly from the artificial breeding program.

"But How Can EDUCATED People Be Catholics"

Some "intellectuals" reject the Catholic belief in Christ.

Jesus, they say, was a mere man—not God. Some of them acknowledge that he was a great teacher and rank him with Buddha, Mohammed, Confucius and Moses. A few even claim that no such Person as Jesus Christ ever lived, and that the entire structure called Christianity is founded upon a myth.

While refusing to believe the Scriptures to be of divine origin, some of these educated people embrace Christianity because they feel that its moral laws are good for society.

"The service of the Christian religion," declared one of these doubters, "and my own faith in essential Christianity, would not be diminished one iota if it should in some way be discovered that no such individual as Jesus ever lived." They are, in other words, willing to accept Christ's religion—but not Christ Himself.

It is ridiculous, of course, to suggest that the Catholic religion is the religion of the ignorant. For millions of educated people...and many of the world's most distinguished scholars, philosophers and scientists...have been devout Catholics. But discounting this fact, there is abundant evidence to support the Catholic teaching concerning Jesus.

It is to be found in the Four Gospels, in which the real Jesus is revealed to us. "But," argue some educated unbelievers, "you are assuming that the Four Gospels are an authentic recording of the life and teaching of Jesus Christ. We refuse to believe this."

The "intellectuals" are, of course, being anything but intellectual in taking this position. For there is more abundant proof of the genuineness of the Gospels than there is to support other historical records which scholars accept without question. References to the quotations from the Four Gospels date back as far as the first century of the Christian era...and are found in writings contemporary with the Apostles and the first Christians.

We will be happy to send you without cost or obligation...an interesting pamphlet explaining...Why you can believe the Gospels...How the Gospels were written...Who discarded the Gospels...Why educated and intelligent people should accept Christ and His Church. "A bull sired by artificial insemination and out of a cow that produces an average of 150 pounds of butterfat annually would give heifers capable of only 203 pounds of butterfat on the average as compared with heifers produced directly by the artificial insemination program which would give 265 pounds of butterfat."

"In the second generation, the calves with two artificial sires behind them could be expected to produce 333 pounds of butterfat annually. If the calf was sired by a son of the program and out of a cow sired by a son of the breeding program, she could be expected to produce only 239 pounds of butterfat yearly."

"Although we cannot predict that the actual production of any animal will be, on the average the production will be halfway between that of the sire and of the dam."
